

I subscribe to the Voluntary INdiana Telemarketers No Call List. I do not wish to have telemarketers calling me unsolicited for ANY REASON. I had previously kept an unlisted number for this very reason, however found the need to list my number after a death in the family when distant friends and relatives had difficulty contacting me. I do not wish to feel like I have to choose between listed or unlisted again, just to keep telemarketers at bay. I love the no call list. Since it went into effect, I have received a couple of telemarketing calls but have proudly answered them with "I'm on the no call list, do not call here again". That's pretty much put an end to that. Friends of mine opted not to subscribe to the list originally and whenever they complain about telemarketers, I tell them about the list and they're eager to know where do they sign. This leads me to believe there are still more names to be added. Do not change, adapt or weaken the Indiana No Call Laws, I'd hate to be forced back to an unlisted number and miss distant friends and family in an emergency again.
